

PREPARES TO STAMP

La Follette Back From West,
Laying His Plans.

OPTIMISM AT TAFT BUREAU

Roosevelt's Praise of Taft in 1908
Recalled.

REPORTS TO HEADQUARTERS

Roosevelt People Issue Statement
Claiming Support From Colored
Voters of Maryland.

In excellent physical condition and fresh from his victory in North Dakota, Senator La Follette returned to Washington today and at once took up plans for the extension of the campaign work he is to do in the next few weeks in states where direct presidential primaries are to be held.

The Wisconsin senator is in good shape for the work ahead, and expects to take the stump again within a short time.

At the Taft bureau today optimism over the prospects in Colorado and West Virginia was expressed. Disparaged from both states indicate that sentiment for the President is running strong.

In a statement issued today by the Taft bureau it is shown that to date 141 Taft delegates to the republican national convention have been selected. For Roosevelt fifteen have been selected, for La Follette, ten, and for Cummins, two.

Roosevelt on Taft in 1908.

As a reply to Col. Roosevelt's speech in New York last night, when he charged that President Taft was opposed to "government by the people," the letter written by Col. Roosevelt in 1908, giving a glowing opinion of Taft as a possible chief executive for the nation, was made public by the bureau.

The letter was written by Col. Roosevelt to Conrad Kohrs of Helena, Mont., September 9, 1908, while Col. Roosevelt was still in the White House. In the letter, Col. Roosevelt said:

"The honest man of means, the honest and law-abiding business man, can feel that the dishonest man of great wealth, the man who swindles or robs his fellows, would not so much as dare to defend his evil-doings in Mr. Taft's presence."

"The honest wage-worker, the honest laboring man, the honest farmer, the honest mechanic, the small trader, or the man of small means, can feel that in a peculiar sense Mr. Taft will be his representative because of the very fact that he has a common sense and a common sense that he has for the corruption, and that he would front threats of personal violence from men in any of the unquelling and lofty indifference with which he would front the bitter anger of the rich and the most powerful corporations. Broad though his sympathies are, there is in him not the slightest tinge of weakness. No consideration of personal interest, no more than of fear for his personal safety, could make him swerve a hair's breadth from the cause which he regards as right in the interest of the whole people."

Taft Success Reported.

The Taft bureau also gives out the following:

H. O. Weaver wires from Burlington, Iowa, under yesterday's date, as follows: "Taft delegates elected in first district today. E. L. McClellin, Morning Sun, Iowa, and Lot Abraham, Morning Pleasant, Iowa."

E. M. Mears has wired from Lamar, Col., as follows:

"Flowers county, Col., held its primaries today and President Taft carried the county."

John L. Sharpstein, president of the Taft Republican Club of Lawawalla county, Wash., has wired as follows:

"The statement of John D. Bass, Col. Roosevelt's manager, that he had been elected to the effect that democrats would control the republican preferential primaries in that state is the answer needed to the challenge of Senator Dixon and others for such primaries in other states, until such time as some method may be devised whereby a republican preferential primary can be limited to republicans and not left open to others."

D. K. Koonce and H. E. Munday have wired from Charles Town, Jefferson county, W. Va., as follows:

"Republican executive committee of Jefferson county has endorsed President Taft for re-nomination."

Canvass of Maryland Colored Vote.

From the Roosevelt headquarters, headed by Senator Dixon, the following statement was issued this afternoon:

"A state-wide canvass of the 48,000 colored voters of Maryland shows Col. Roosevelt the choice over President Taft for the republican presidential nomination by a little over 25 to 1."

Richard E. Macbeth, who supervised the canvass, said today:

"A political revolution is at hand among Maryland republicans and colored people are almost a unit for Col. Roosevelt. Their feeling against President Taft is so bitter, as the state-wide canvass by county shows that his renomination by county would mean a party slump in the usual Maryland colored republican vote of over 100,000. President Taft would have to go elsewhere in Maryland over 20,000 votes to carry the state—an admitted impossibility to any one of all concerned with Maryland political conditions. The cause of the bitter feeling against President Taft is very largely the policy in regard to the colored men. They blame the recent rapid advances of race prejudice, the Baltimore segregationists, and President Taft's official indifference to the principle of the 'square deal' as applied to the colored people. They are more intelligent colored people of the state, to the cause just given is added a sweeping condemnation of the Taft administration with respect to its effect upon the general progress of the nation."

LOSS FROM WINDSTORM

Persons Reported Killed In Oklahoma Border Towns.

WICHITA FALLS, Tex., March 21.—Loss of life is reported in towns across the Oklahoma border from a windstorm that swept over northeastern Texas and southern Oklahoma last night. Tremendous property damage is reported in Wichita county.

Hundreds of oil rigs were blown down in the neighborhood of Elberta, Tex.

Lafayette Alumni to Dine.

The annual banquet of the Lafayette College Alumni Association of the South, to be held at the University Club at Baltimore tomorrow night, will be attended by a number of Washingtonians who are graduates of the institution. Last year the banquet was held in Washington. President Warfield of Lafayette College will address the alumni.

March 24

Will Be

The Big Day

DR. WILEY IN WRANGLE

Rouses Anger of Drug Men at Hearing by Calling
Them "Dopers."

TURN OVER BOARDROOM

Will Be Headquarters for Spotless
Town Crusade.

SCHEME OF ORGANIZATION

Co-Operation of Citizens Necessary
if All Refuse Is Removed
From Capital.

Objecting Is Made.

As soon as the former chief chemist had used the word "dopers," John J. Queeny of St. Louis, a manufacturer of saccharin, was on his feet, objecting.

"We come here," he declared, "to be given a hearing; we are respectable manufacturers, and we do not want to be insulted. I think the board should compel Dr. Wiley to withdraw his remarks."

"I refuse to withdraw it," came back the doctor.

But after further discussion by several present, with whom he said he had had pleasant relations, Dr. Wiley modified his language.

Indicating the extent of their interest in the plan of The Star for a week of city cleaning, to be held April 15 to 20, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia today decided to give the use of the boardroom in the Municipal building to the committee of citizens and District government representatives who will direct the health crusade.

The Commissioners did not stop with this, but promised to preside over the first meeting of the committee, which will be held in the boardroom at 4:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 13, when final plans for conducting the clean-up campaign, which will begin tonight and early the following Monday, will be mapped out. Cuno H. Rudolph, president of the board of Commissioners, will call the meeting to order.

As a result of the immediate endorsement given by the Commissioners to the plan of The Star to improve the sanitary conditions of the National Capital, it has become possible to announce the general features of the proposed arrangement for conducting the health campaign.

Meeting of Representatives.

At the meeting to be held Saturday, April 13, representatives of all the citizens' associations of the District and of a large number of civic organizations, as well as of several departments of the District government, which have been asked to participate in the campaign, will be in attendance. These representatives will compose the central committee of the campaign.

The principal business to be disposed of at Saturday's meeting will be the appointment of an executive committee which will meet daily in the boardroom of the Municipal building while the city-cleaning work is in progress. Complaints which will come daily to the committee, which will devise ways and means of disposing of them.

Co-Operation Necessary.

The plan contemplates co-operation by the members of the various organizations to the extent of their reporting nuisances in the section covered by the organization to the central committee. These representatives will lay the complaints before the executive committee, where a decision as to what action shall be taken will be reached.

The success or failure of the plan to make Washington a cleaner city than it has ever been will depend almost entirely on the efforts to be put forth by the citizens of the District. The organizations represented in the central committee.

The members of the District of Columbia generally are asked to take part in the campaign, and complaints made to the executive committee by residents who are not members of any of the organizations actively participating also will be considered and acted upon.

Woodward May Head Work.

Among the departments of the District government that will be represented on the central committee are the health, police and street cleaning departments and the department of charities.

Mr. William C. Woodward, health officer of the District, has been mentioned as chairman of the executive committee, and is presently in the city on a mission to the State of New York, where he is attending to the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

HEADS GIVE AID

Join Heartily in Plans for Clean-Up Week.

TURN OVER BOARDROOM

Will Be Headquarters for Spotless
Town Crusade.

SCHEME OF ORGANIZATION

Co-Operation of Citizens Necessary
if All Refuse Is Removed
From Capital.

Objecting Is Made.

As soon as the former chief chemist had used the word "dopers," John J. Queeny of St. Louis, a manufacturer of saccharin, was on his feet, objecting.

"We come here," he declared, "to be given a hearing; we are respectable manufacturers, and we do not want to be insulted. I think the board should compel Dr. Wiley to withdraw his remarks."

"I refuse to withdraw it," came back the doctor.

But after further discussion by several present, with whom he said he had had pleasant relations, Dr. Wiley modified his language.

Indicating the extent of their interest in the plan of The Star for a week of city cleaning, to be held April 15 to 20, the Commissioners of the District of Columbia today decided to give the use of the boardroom in the Municipal building to the committee of citizens and District government representatives who will direct the health crusade.

The Commissioners did not stop with this, but promised to preside over the first meeting of the committee, which will be held in the boardroom at 4:45 o'clock Saturday afternoon, April 13, when final plans for conducting the clean-up campaign, which will begin tonight and early the following Monday, will be mapped out. Cuno H. Rudolph, president of the board of Commissioners, will call the meeting to order.

As a result of the immediate endorsement given by the Commissioners to the plan of The Star to improve the sanitary conditions of the National Capital, it has become possible to announce the general features of the proposed arrangement for conducting the health campaign.

Meeting of Representatives.

At the meeting to be held Saturday, April 13, representatives of all the citizens' associations of the District and of a large number of civic organizations, as well as of several departments of the District government, which have been asked to participate in the campaign, will be in attendance. These representatives will compose the central committee of the campaign.

The principal business to be disposed of at Saturday's meeting will be the appointment of an executive committee which will meet daily in the boardroom of the Municipal building while the city-cleaning work is in progress. Complaints which will come daily to the committee, which will devise ways and means of disposing of them.

Co-Operation Necessary.

The plan contemplates co-operation by the members of the various organizations to the extent of their reporting nuisances in the section covered by the organization to the central committee. These representatives will lay the complaints before the executive committee, where a decision as to what action shall be taken will be reached.

The success or failure of the plan to make Washington a cleaner city than it has ever been will depend almost entirely on the efforts to be put forth by the citizens of the District. The organizations represented in the central committee.

The members of the District of Columbia generally are asked to take part in the campaign, and complaints made to the executive committee by residents who are not members of any of the organizations actively participating also will be considered and acted upon.

Woodward May Head Work.

Among the departments of the District government that will be represented on the central committee are the health, police and street cleaning departments and the department of charities.

Mr. William C. Woodward, health officer of the District, has been mentioned as chairman of the executive committee, and is presently in the city on a mission to the State of New York, where he is attending to the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

As an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department, is a recent inspection of alleys in the District.

According to Mr. Haynes' report, 257 nuisances were made and eighty-nine nuisances discovered. This is an indication of the need of a general clean-up campaign, such as that proposed by The Star, and the health department of the District by Roy C. Haynes, secretary of the health department.

BARTENDER CONVICTED FOR SELLING WHISKY TO THEM

HENRY RED EAGLE, ASSISTANT CHIEF, OSAGE INDIANS, FROM THE OKLAHOMA RESERVATION, AND ONE OF HIS TRIBESMEN, BACON RIND.

CONVICTED FOR SELLING FIREWATER TO BRAVES

William Lloyd, Bartender, Released Pending Motion for New Trial.

William Lloyd, bartender at the Hotel Vendome, was convicted today by a jury in Criminal Court No. 2, before Justice Barnard, of selling whisky to Henry Red Eagle, an Osage Indian from the Oklahoma reservation, and James Bird, a Winnebago Indian from Nebraska. Pending a motion for a new trial Lloyd was released on bond.

A case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

The case of selling liquor to Indians charged against Nicholas Mades was heard earlier in the week, and resulted in the acquittal of the defendant. The defense of Mades was that the Indians were not in the barroom, and when he gave the whisky to the waiter he did not know who was taking it.

PLANS FOR MAINE DEAD

Plans Perfected for Memorial Ceremonies Saturday.

OFFICIALS TO PARTICIPATE

Bodies to Be Borne on Caissons to Arlington Cemetery.

IMPOSING ESCORT PROVIDED

President and Others to Make Addresses on Plaza of State, War and Navy Building.